

Danny O'Flaherty - Irish Folk Singer and Historian

Danny O'Flaherty is a native of the Aran Islands and Connemara, along the west coast of Ireland and has been a tireless ambassador for Celtic music and culture for over fifty years. He has performed for U.S. Presidents, Pope John Paul II and other heads of state all over the world. Danny's epic career includes thirty-one albums, songs featured in major films, a children's book, and hundreds of talks on Irish-Celtic history as a vocal advocate for causes including unity and cultural appreciation.

Danny's live musical performances include hundreds of festival appearances, children's concerts, holiday specials made for television, digital streaming and on-demand concerts and as a featured artist for cruises and cultural tours. For many years he worked with his brother, Patrick, as co-proprietors of one of the most famous Irish pubs in the New Orleans French Quarter, O'Flaherty's Irish Channel Pub.

As he continues to delight and educate audiences of all ages and nationalities in his fifth decade as a working musician Danny O'Flaherty continues to be an active learner of history and music. He keeps working tirelessly to further refine his musicianship, knowledge of history and improve the lives of all who hear his voice.
